Everyday Life in the Period

Tudor Lords - The wealthy in Tudor society lived increasingly rich and flambouant lives:

- -Fashion was important, with men wearing decorated doublets (jackets) with rounded fronts and slashed trunks. Women would wear kirtles (overskirts) over wooden frames (farthingales) and high collars.
- -Food consisted almost entirely of meat, with few vegetables, with beer or wine amongst the predominant drinks of
- -Tudor Lords lived in huge mansions in the countryside (e.g. Hampton Court).
- Pastimes included jousting, hunting, dancing, and real tennis.

Life in Towns- The Tudor and Stuart era has been described as the 'Golden Age of the Small Town' as roughly 90% of people still lived in smaller dwellings. Small towns contained inns and dwellings for tired travelers (remember that travel was much more limited than now, even a trip to the next town was an undertaking) market places, and leisure facilities.

London notably improved in the 17th Century, as running water was made available from reservoirs for those who could afford it, and streets were lit by oil lamps after 1680. Most people travelled by boat on the River Thames, paying local 'Ferrymen.'

Life for the Poor - Life for poor people in this era was exceptionally harsh. For many manual labour jobs, such as farming, the day would begin at approximately 5am. Work would continue throughout most of the day, only breaking for mealtimes, which was normally some form of simple vegetable stew. As there was no welfare state, many who grew too old or weak were forced to beg, steal, or die.

Punishments for crime were brutal – death by hanging was given to anyone who stole over one shilling, beggars were whipped through the streets, and poisoners were boiled alive! The Poor Laws made life even harder for poor people, mostly punishing their poverty.

Major Events and Key Information

Battle of Bosworth - 22nd August 1485 The Battle of Bosworth was the last significant battle in the 'War of the Roses', a civil war that raged between the houses of Lancaster in York in the latter half of the 15th Century. The battle was won by the Lancastrians, and Henry Tudor thus became the first King of the Tudor period. Richard of York had proven to be widely unpopular - he was originally acting as Lord Protector for Edward V at the request of his brother (Edward IV), however he declared the boy illegitimate and took the throne for himself. He was also believed to have been implicated in the murder of his wife. Henry seized this opportunity to stake his claim to the throne, garnering wide support and the help of Sir William Stanley to defeat Richard in battle and kill him. The Civil War - 1642-1651

The civil war pitted the Parliamentarians (the 'Roundheads') against the Royalists (the 'Cavaliers') over the manner of England's government. The three major battles saw fighting between those supporting Charles I and those supporting Parliament. The war was eventually ended at the Battle of Worcester on 3rd September 1651, when the Parliamentarians won. The outcome of the war was several-fold – Charles I was put on trial and then executed, his son Charles II was driven out of the country, the country was ruled by the Commonwealth and then the Protectorate: Oliver Cromwell.

The Great Plague of London - 1665-1666 The last major episode of the bubonic plague to occur in England, the great plague killed around 100,000 people, almost a quarter of London's population, in 18 months. It was reportedly initially caused by an infected rat flea bite. There was no duty to report deaths at the time - instead, parishes employed 'searchers of the dead.' For this reason, death figures may be somewhat inaccurate.

Henry VIII's Wives- In total, Henry VIII had six wives:

1st Wife: Catherine of Aragon – This marriage was annulled as Henry broke with the Catholic church in order to divorce. Their child was Mary I. 2nd Wife: Anne Boleyn – Anne gave Henry his second daughter, Elizabeth I. She was accused of treason and incest and was executed in 1536, 3rd Wife: Jane Seymour - Jane gave Henry the son that he desired (Edward VI) but died 12 days later, presumably from post-natal complications, 4th Wife: Anne of Cleeves – A German princess, it is believed they never consummated the marriage, which lasted 6 months. 5th Wife: Catherine Howard -Executed for adultery after just over 1 year. 6th Wife - Catherine Parr – Trusted by the King – outlived him by over a year.

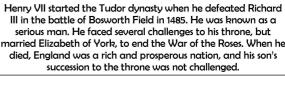

Great Fire of London - 2nd-5th September 1666 The Great Fire of London was a major conflagration that tore through London throughout the reign of Charles II. The fire consumed over 13,200 houses, St Paul's Cathedral, and many, many churches. It is estimated that the fire damaged at least 70,000 of London's 80,000 homes at the time. It is commonly held that the death-toll was relatively low (6), however many believe that the deaths of the poor were simply not recorded. The fire started at the bakery of Thomas Farriner on Pudding Lane. Afterwards, huge areas of London needed to be rebuilt - rebuilding schemes were widely encouraged by Charles.

The Glorious Revolution - 1688-1689

The Glorious Revolution was the overthrow of King James II of England by a group of parliamentarians, to be replaced by William of Orange (of the Netherlands) and his wife Mary II (James's daughter). James's policies of religious tolerance had been met with opposition, and there was general concern over his Catholicism. William successfully invaded with his Dutch fleet to take the throne

He married his brother's widow, Catherine of Aragon, but divorced her when she didn't produce a male heir. To do so, he broke with Catholicism and formed the church of Enaland. He went on to marry another five times, yet only had one male heir - Edward VI.
